TO ASSEMBLE

Begin with the head

Sew the seam of the head, stuff quite firmly before finally closing. Seam runs on the underside of the head. Take the ears, sew together in pairs. Place a cream ear inside a copper ear. Sew the cream ear neatly to the inside of the copper ear. Repeat with the second ear. Sew the ears to each side of the head, pleating the base together a little to give shape. Roll the horns into an oblong, with points at either end and a wider section in the centre. Using a large crochet hook, thread the horns through the top of the head. Get them even on each side, curl the horns upwards on each side. Take a few strands of copper yarn and sew between the horns to form the forelock. Take some black yarn and embroider eyes and nostrils onto the head.

Body

Sew the seam of the body, stuffing before the final closing. The seam of the body will run on the underneath. Take the legs and sew the seams on each one. Leave the bottom of the hoof open. Stuff each leg quite firmly. The seam will run down the back of each leg. Sew a bottom of hoof to each leg, add a little more stuffing if needed. Try to get the legs to look similar. Now sew the legs to the body. Pin them in place first to get them level. Sew the legs in place. Take the neck piece and sew the side seam. Add some stuffing to the neck, not too much as extra can be added when sewing to the body. Place the neck onto one end of the body, stretching slightly over the body to fit firmly, add extra stuffing if needed. Take the head and place onto the neck. Make sure that it is far enough back not to cause the ox to be top heavy. Roll the tail into a neat cylinder shape. Add a few strands of cream yarn to the base of the tail as a fringe. Sew tail to back of ox.

HALTER AND LEAD REIN

Using 3.00mm hook and red yarn make a chain long enough to fit around the camel's nose and then around back of head. Use photo as a guide to help when sewing in place. Make a longer chain for the lead rein.

TAIL

Using 3.00mm hook and beige yarn double, make a chain about 5cm long, fasten off. Take a few lengths of beige and add to one end of the chain for the camels tail.

HINTS & TIPS

The pieces are mainly worked in rounds and joined with a slip stitch at the end of each round unless otherwise stated in the instructions.

With the technique used in making the camel most of the pieces are joined into a circle as they are worked, therefore very little sewing up is required when assembling the project. Each piece is stuffed as it is worked, adding tiny bits of stuffing as you proceed. Final stuffing can be done before closing the piece if needed, using the blunt end of your hook to shape as you do.

TO ASSEMBLE

Take the head first. The widest part is the back of the head. Take the ears and curl them into semi circles, sew one to each side of the head. Using black yarn embroider an eye onto each side, use photograph as a guide. Embroider nostrils onto the camel's nose. Take the red chain halter and sew in place on the head. Attach a small tassel under the chin. The tassel is made by winding a fw lengths of yarn together and knotting them. Add the lead rein to the sides of the head.

The body and head will already be stuffed. Stuff each leg firmly, but don't close the tops. Stuff the neck quite firmly, again do not close the top. This is the part of the neck that you will sew the head onto. Take the fringe and join into a circle, place the circle on the camels hump, sew in place.

Take the body and pin the legs in place onto the base. Angle them outwards slightly to make the camel stand well. Get the legs all level if you can. Sew each one in place. Take the neck and sew the head to the open end, the head should sit onto the neck. Sew in place. Carefully pin the neck onto the front of the body, sew firmly in place. Attach the tail to the back of the camel.

Using Beige 4ply make a plait long enough to fit around the donkeys nose, then some extra to make a lead rein.

TO ASSEMBLE

Begin with the head. Sew the seam of the head, stuff quite firmly before finally closing. Seam runs on the underside of the head. Take the muzzle and sew the side seam. Slip the muzzle onto one end of the head, this will now be the nose. Sew neatly onto the head. Take the ears, sew together in pairs. Place a pink ear inside a grey ear, wrong sides facing. The grey ear will fold inwards slightly, sew the pink ear neatly to the sides of the grey ear. Repeat with the second ear. Sew the ears to the head, angle them slightly outwards. Take some black yarn and thread it into a blunt ended needle. Secure the yarn to the centre of the head between the ears, wind the yarn a couple of times around the index finger, then sew the resulting loops to the head. Continue making loops and sewing to the back of the head of the donkey in the same way to form the mane.

This takes a little time and patience. Embroider the eyes and nostrils and mouth onto the head. Use the picture as a guide to help you.

Body. Sew the seam of the body, stuffing before the final closing. The seam of the body will run on the underneath. Take the legs and sew the seams on each one. Leave the bottom of the hoof open. Stuff each leg quite firmly. The seam will run down the back of each leg. Sew a bottom of hoof to each leg, add a little more stuffing if needed. Try to get the legs to look similar. Now sew the legs to the body. Pin them in place first to get them level. Sew the legs in place. Take the tail and sew to one end of the body. Sew the head onto the body.

This is quite tricky so take your time.

Water Cans. Sew the two long sides of the can together. Now sew the top edges to the main piece, this will begin to form an oblong shape. Stuff the can, now fold over the final flap and sew in place. Repeat with the other can. You can oversew tiny seams on each of the sides to accentuate the oblong shape if desired.

Sew the strap in place over the donkeys back, now attach a water can on each side of the strap. Finally take the rope and wind around the donkeys muzzle, secure underneath the chin, leave the rest of the rope loose.

TO ASSEMBLE

Begin with the head. Sew the seam of the head, stuff quite firmly before finally closing. Seam runs on the underside of the head. Take the forehead blaze and stitch in place carefully. Take the ears, sew together in pairs. Place a cream ear inside a Light brown ear, wrong sides facing. The light brown ear will fold inwards slightly, sew the cream ear neatly to the sides of the light brown ear. Repeat with the second ear. Sew the ears to the head. Take some black yarn and embroider eyes and nostrils onto head Take some short strands of dark brown yarn and tie tightly in the centre of the strands to form a bunch. Sew the bunch to the back of the horses head. Make further small bunches and continue to sew to the back of the head until a neat main is formed. Sew a few strand to the head between the ears to form the forelock. Make some dark brown plaits in various lengths to form the bridle. Sew each piece onto the head, use the picture as a guide. Make a longer plait to form the reigns, sew these in place on either side of the bridle.

Body. Sew the seam of the body, stuffing before the final closing. The seam of the body will run on the underneath. Take the legs and sew the seams on each one. Leave the bottom of the hoof open. Stuff each leg quite firmly. The seam will run down the back of each leg. Sew a bottom of hoof to each leg, add a little more stuffing if needed. Try to get the legs to look similar Now sew the legs to the body. Pin them in place first to get them level. Sew the legs in place. Take the neck piece and sew the side seam. Add some stuffing to the neck, not too much as extra can be added when sewing to the body. Place the neck onto one end of the body, stretching slightly over the body to fit firmly, add extra stuffing if needed. Take some longer strands of yarn and tie in the centre as you did with the main, this bunch will form the tail. Sew to the back of the body.

Take the saddle and fold over a tiny rim on each side of the piece. Stitch in place. Sew the girth to one side of the saddle in the centre. Place on horses back and then pull the girth under the body, secure to other side of saddle to hold in place Take the head and place onto the neck. Make sure that it is far enough back not to cause the horse to be top heavy. Pin in place and then sew the head firmly to the neck.
